For Representative,

HARVEY HELM.

For Superintendent of Public Schools,

W. F. McCLARY.

FINDING that demerits wouldn't work, Col. Breckinridge has finally filed an answer to Miss Pollard's petition in which he denies her allegations in toto. He says that in the spring of 1881 he was approached by plaintiff, then a woman of between 20 and 22, who introduced herself as Madeline Breckinridge Pollard, saying that her father had given her the middle name through his great admiration of Gen. John C. Breckinridge; that subsequently he received a letter from her from Wesleyan College, Cincinnati, telling him that she was in distress and wished him to come and give her legal advice, that he couldn't go but finally went on a second appeal from her which said that her troubles were over an engagement to marry James Rodas and that they had assumed conditions worse than a divorce suit; that she gave him a full recital of her relations with Rodas, when he advised her that the safest plan was to marry him; that he did not take advantage of her youth and inexperience by wiles and artifices and protestations of affection or otherwise; that he did not seduce her, did not prevent her going abroad, or entering upon any career that she desired and that he never at any time promised to marry her, for she knew during their entire acquaintance that such a thing was impossible. The answer is signed by Enoch Totten and Phil B. Thompson, "Old Phil" of Harrodsburg. It now remains to be seen if the colonel can prove what he says. The burden of proof will be on Miss Pollard and our prediction is that while her charges may be true, she can produce no witness to substantiate them and the colonel will go acquit with a public sentiment endorsing the Scotch verdict, "guilty but not proven." It is to be hoped, however, if he deserves it, that he will come out with flying colors, and that his sun now in its zenith may not be obscured forever, as it will undoubtedly be if there is left a suspicion of his guilt.

ANOTHER appalling railroad collision is added to the long record that the Chicago roads are making. The travel is so heavy to the Fair that the times have to be run in sections, some trains as many as three or four. On the Wabash at Kingsburg, Ind., Friday night, the first section of a passenger train passed a freight on a side track all right, but the brakeman forgot that there was a second section and opened the switch in time for it to dash at the rate of 55 miles an hour into the standing train. The result was heartrending. Eleven persons were killed outright and scores of others wounded. The brakeman fled and has not been found, though hunted by the citizens. Unless greater precautions are made it will be equal to taking one's life in his hands to go to Chicago. The trial and conviction of a few careless railroad men would be the means of awakening them to a greater responsibility and it is hoped that recommendations of coroner's juries that such men be held responsible for the deaths caused may be adopted and prosecuted.

LOYD REED was fined $100 at Henderson for kissing pretty Mrs. Leonard. The widow objected to the occasion and as it is an assault to lay hands or lips either, be it done never so lightly, on a woman without her consent, he was arrested and tried with the above result. It is worth $100 and more to kiss some women when they are in for it, but the fellow's a fool who thinks to find any enjoyment in kissing when the kisser objects.

PUBLIC office is public trust said Mr. Cleveland on one occasion, but most of his appointees regard it as a private snap. Secretary Carlisle has had his brother "Pole" appointed postmaster at Covington, the salary of which is $2,900 a year, and as "Pole" is only getting $10 a week now, he'll feel "bigger than old Grant," when he steps into nearly 25 times as much in a few days.

CONGRESSMAN GOODRICH may not be a statesman, but he possesses an admirable trait. He does not forget those who assisted him in his ambition, after he has attained it. The fact that he has secured the Bowling Green post-office for his friend and supporter, John B. Gates, editor of the Times, is as much to his credit as the appointee is deserving.

It is said that a Whitley county jury remained out two days before finding a man guilty who had plead that he was. The aversion the average mountain juror feels to condemning a man amounts almost to a mania. West Virginia's coat of arms says Montani semper liberi, and for that reason possibly they object to taking any one's freedom from him.

The annual report of Commissioner Lockren shows that there are 906,012 pensioners on the rolls, an increase of 289,944 during the past year. The amount of money paid these pensioners for this year was $156,740,497 and the commissioner estimates that it will require $162,631,570 for the next fiscal year. He thinks that by 1895, 30 years after the close of the war, the rolls will have reached the highest limit, considering the number of men enlisted, and that they will begin to decrease. It looks like they should but the federal soldiers are as long-lived as they are unhealthy and there is no telling. Meanwhile the country is getting very tired of putting up such a vast amount of money to support so many undeserving men in ease and idleness.

MR. WATKINSON enters an earnest protest against the consideration of the repeal of force bills now when other matters demand attention. As there is no Federal election for a year or more, the great editor is right as he is nine times out of ten. Let us as Carlisle said do one thing at a time and all things in the proper order. Repeal the Sherman law first and then tackle the tariff and force laws with a vengeance that will insure reform in the one and the repeal of the other.

THERE are a number of clerks to smaller committees of the House who get $1,200 a year for doing nothing, some of them not even going to Washington. Congressman Paynter therefore very properly offered a resolution to cut off these useless clerks, and it was adopted, a motion to reconsider being tabled by a vote of 142 to 57. Mr. Paynter deserves commendation. Let all the barnacles be scraped from the old ship of State.

IN order to give themselves more time to talk, the Senators have unanimously agreed to begin the sessions an hour earlier and remain in session till 6 p. m. An effort to adopt the cloture resolution has so far proved abortive, but if ever such a rule is necessary, it is doubly so in this instance. The people want the Sherman silver bill repealed and without further tomfoolery.

The Great Wild West Show

Which now attracting so much attention in the White City or the Windy City, whichever choose to call it, is in that respect somewhat like our establishment. With goods piling up in our house and prices marked so low, we are in Stanford the

CENTRE OF ATTRACTION

And we intend now to "astonish the natives" with prices that are absolutely too low to be referred to as "rock bottom." To give you an idea of the enormity of our stock we mention the fact that we have over 2,000 Shirts in our House and everything else in proportion.

The Biggest Circus

Can't touch us in drawing a crowd and our store is the busiest looking establishment in Stanford, "the city between two hills." We can sell goods at prices that will

Make You Smile Out Loud

For instance, good Shirts from 20c to $3; our line of Underwear is complete and we can sell you a suit anywhere from 50c to $7. Examine our line of Comforts and Blankets; we have them to suit all pocket books. In fact, our stock of Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots and Shoes surpasses all others in immensity and the popular verdict is that it is perfectly beautiful. Come to see us at

THE : LOUISVILLE : STORE.

A. URBANSKY, Proprietor.

Hopper is undoubtedly the king of racing association managers.

—Sales of 200 bushels of blue grass seed at 65 cents and 35 acres of corn in the field at $2 are reported in the Richmond Register.

—Strayed or Stolen.—A red Berkshire sow, pigs weaned; weight about 175 pounds. A reward will be paid for her return. J. G. Carpenter.

—Wheat is going up. No. 2 winter red sold quickly in Cincinnati Saturday at 41c. The top of the cattle market is 41c and of the hog 65c in the same city.

—J. W. Poor & Co. have shipped two cars of wheat from Crab Orchard to Newport News, Virginia, for export, for which they paid 52 cents. W. E. Perkins has shipped three cars to the Broadhead Roller Mills from same point, for which he paid 50 cents.

—Isaac Terhune and Jesse Litsey, who have been feeding wheat to their hogs and carefully watching the experiment, claim that at 5c per pound wheat fed to hogs will realize $1 per bushel. Campbell & Gentry bought 60 cattle averaging 1,200 lbs. at 3c and Alexander bought 90 hogs at 5c.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

—Notwithstanding the rain a fair crowd attended court at Lancaster yesterday. Only a few cattle were on the market; no sales were reported. Several horses sold at $40 to $85. M. S. Baughman bought 10 mare mule colts at $55 to $75. F. P. Woods bought two of same at $70 and $75. Gover, of Pulaski, bought several horse mule colts at $30 to $35.

—A. M. Pence arrived from Springfield, Ill., with his horse, Pence, that had made the season there, serving 50 mares at $50, each. This game racer and splendid breeder has made a big reputation for himself in Illinois and Mr. Pence has frequently refused $5,000 for him. He asks $10,000 though and is not anxious to dispose of him at that money.

—A small crowd attended the sale of the late Samuel Engleman's effects Friday and bidding was slow and dull. The household and kitchen furniture sold very low while the farming implements went almost for a song. Five horses and mares brought from $25 to $65; milk cows from $15 to $26. A half interest in a jennet and jennet colt brought $100.

—Thomas Metcalf, of Wilmore, sold this week to R. A. Dodd, his crop of 2,000 bushels of wheat at 56 cents. Robt. M. Hunter has just completed the shipment of 1,500 bushels of Jessamine clover seed bought for Cincinnati parties, engaged at $5 per bushel. Since the decline in seed he has purchased about 500 bushels more at $4.50. The same seed will find its way back to the county next spring at $7.50.—Journal.

—The Q. & C. and L. S. announce a one fare rate to Versailles 27-28 on account of the free-union of the Orphan Brigade, with special train from Lexington at 9 A. M. on the 27th. The same roads will sell tickets to Cincinnati 25-27 at 14 fares for the round trip, on account of the Young Men's Institute Meeting of Grand Council. See agents or address W. E. Rinearson, G. P. A., Cincinnati.

—Brace up and Take a Tonic.

You will feel like a new man if you take Stockton's Antiseptic and get your blood thoroughly clean. It is a fine Tonic, invigorates and cleanses the whole system. Ask A. R. Penny, Druggist, for it.

Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured her of croup, and in turn administered it to her own offspring and always with the best results. For sale by W. B. The minstrel firm of Beach & Bowers, which gave a splendid show here several years ago, is now engaged by Ringling Bros. to do the concert part. They were recognized by several of our people at the show at Danville Saturday. This seems to us as rather a come down.

The L. & N. has already put on in conformity to the law for separate coaches for colored people which goes into effect Oct. 3, cars with partitions in them. On one side of the door is "This apartment for white passengers," and on the other "This apartment for colored passengers."

Mr. P. H. Howells, who is here from Cumberland Gap, tells us that he has sold his woolen mills here to Mr. Trammell, of Tennessee, for $1,500, with a sufficient first payment to guarantee the balance of the purchase money. It is Mr. Trammell's intention to improve the plant and to run it to its full capacity.

Dr. J. A. Williams again breathes the air of his McKinney home. His wife and her sister, Miss Fannie Givens, came to town Saturday and put up the $100 bond for him to keep the peace toward the family and all persons and he shook the scent of the jail from his clothes and departed, let us hope, never to return to its confines again.

The Columbia, Mo., Herald says of Heywood's Celebrities, which appear at Walton's Opera House, Saturday, Oct. 7th: "Heywood's Celebrities gave a programme of musical and dramatic features, a combination of talent in which every performer was a star. It is a most excellent company and its performance deserves much compliment. The soprano was particularly good."

A Circuitous Route.—The other day a Chinaman asked the agent of the Big Four at Cairo, Ill., for a ticket to Evansville, Ind., a distance of about 100 miles. Carelessly or unintentionally he gave him a coupon ticket which read via Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Livingston and Guthrie, Ky. He got on the wrong train at Livingston and Conductor Delph took him to Corbin and shipped him back by the next train.

The will of Charles H. McDowell was sustained by a Boyle county jury. The old gentleman left all of his property to his brothers Nicholas and Joseph McDowell, and the children of a half sister who had married Dr. J. M. Meyer brought suit because they were not recognized in the will. In his testimony the doctor admitted having denounced the deceased as a scoundrel and telling him that hell was far too good for him. The jury was of the opinion that it would have done just as Mr. McDowell did and decided that the will should stand.

ONE KILLED.

Two Mortally Wounded, Including Dan G. Slaughter.

Our Crab Orchard letter gives briefly the particulars of a terrible battle at Dripping Springs, Saturday, the result of which was the killing of Rodney Singleton and mortal wounding of Col. D. G. Slaughter and Bill Stamper. The trouble was caused by Stamper, who is said to be a very bad youth. He was shot five or six times and Singleton and his partner about as many. After Slaughter had fired as he thought all of his balls, he closed in on Singleton and used his dirk with much effect. He finally fell, paralyzed from the effects of one of the balls lodging near his spine, and finding that there was still another load in his pistol, he with great difficulty raised on one arm and fired again at Singleton, the ball entering his femoral artery, causing him to bleed to death in a few moments. Dr. J. G. Carpenter was dispatched for and went at once to the scene. He found that one ball had entered Mr. Slaughter's neck, passing through, and the other had passed through the breast and lodged near or against the spine, producing paralysis. The removal of the ball was impossible, so he simply dressed the wounds, telling the patient in answer to his inquiries that he might live 18 hours, or five days, but that his chances to recover were one in a dozen and advised him to settle up earthly affairs he might wish to attend to at once. Mr. Slaughter heard these words without the slightest sign of emotion and made the doctor go into detail as to how death would likely come. He then said "Tell Walton," meaning the editor of this paper, "that I was not to blame, but only acted in self defense." Dr. Carpenter says he never witnessed so little fear in the very jaws of death as the wounded man showed nor heard of greater fortitude than he displayed in the bloody encounter. Mr. Slaughter is the well known and clever proprietor of Green Briar Springs and a leading merchant of Crab Orchard. He has a large family, which he supported well and who will feel his loss should his wounds prove fatal.

A dispatch from Mrs. Alice Newland, at Crab Orchard, as we go to press, says: Mr. Slaughter was sinking rapidly at 3 o'clock, with no hope that he would survive the night.

Fire.—Just as the town clock struck 1 o'clock Sunday morning flames were seen issuing from Anderson T. Nunnally's feed stable back of Mr. P. P. Nunnally's residence and the cry was at once raised. It was some moments before the alarm was sounded but many of the firemen had heard the cry and were hastening to the scene with the reels, hose and ladders and in an almost incredible space of time they had the streams playing upon the fire. It was soon seen that there were no hopes to save the building and attention was turned to the houses adjacent. The colored Baptist church caught fire in several places but by almost superhuman efforts it was saved as were also the buildings on L. M. Bruce's lot which also caught. After the fire was discovered it was impossible to get into the stable on account of the heat and smoke. Several of the horses got out, all except one badly burned, but six head perished besides four hogs.

As usual Mack Bruce loses heavily. A splendid pair of mules for which he had refused $350, a $200 horse, 4 hogs, phaeton, buckboard and feed run his loss up to $700, with $500 insurance. It is the third fire he has suffered, the last being the one that destroyed the larger portion of the Opera House block. In the summer of 1892, when he lost besides buggies, harness, &c., 11 horses.

Mr. Sam M. Owens kept his horses in the stable and lost two fine ones, one a favorite of his wife and his burning nearly prostrated her. Aphaeton, buckboard and two sets of harness were also burned making Mr. Owens' loss fully $650, with no insurance.

Mr. Nunnally lost a mule, hack, buggy, harness and feed, about $500. The horse that got out was considerably singed. J. T. Harris had his harness repair shop in the building and he loses about $100's worth of tools. Dr. W. B. O'Bannon lost buggy and harness. His horse got out severely burned after his halter had been cut in two by the flames. The colored church was drenched, its windows broken and some of the rafters slightly burned. The wonder is that it was saved at all.

The stable was worth about $700 and was insured in the Connecticut Fire Co. for $500. The origin of the fire is variously attributed. Some think it was the work of incendiaries, others that it caught from the cigar stumps of crap shooters, and still others that it started from sparks from a locomotive. Wils Guest was sleeping in the building and saved himself by jumping through a window, taking the cash with him.

While all the fire company, except perhaps the hook and ladder squad, deserve commendation, Mr. Albert Severance is entitled to special mention as the first to get to the engine house. The first arrivals at the fire attempted to cut into the building, but were stopped before they succeeded by the intense heat.

Mack Ferrell's attorneys have decided to make no further legal effort to set aside the verdict of life imprisonment for the murder of Sam Engleman and he will be taken to Frankfort next week to spend his long term.

Frost.—A dispatch from the Signal Service last evening says "Fair Tuesday, colder. Severe frosts Wednesday night." Those having tobacco or other easily killed plants in danger should observe this warning and govern themselves accordingly.

The car repairers and coal heavers at Rowland stopped work yesterday because 13 cars were sent there from Louisville for repairs. The shopmen in Louisville are still out and we are told that the cars and engines are getting in very bad shape. The effort of the company to replace the strikers has not so far proved successful. The strike is against a reduction of 10 per cent. in wages.

The L. & N. and Monon Routes will run a cheap excursion from Milledgeboro to the World's Fair next Thursday, 25th, to be personally conducted by Mr. W. W. Penn. It will leave at 5 A. M. and pass here at 9:52. The round-trip rate will be but $10.00 from Stanford, and so on. Train will arrive at Chicago at 10 P. M., and tickets on it will be good to return on any regular train in 15 days.

To Chicago via the Lakes.—The greatest trip to the greatest fair on earth and a 1,000-mile ride; Detroit to Chicago via the grandest palace steamers on the Lakes. Picturesque scenery. Returning from Chicago direct, all rail; or you can go to Chicago by rail and return via the Lakes and Detroit. Berth and meals included between Mackinac and Chicago Round-trip rate from Cincinnati $21.50 (via Toledo and boat 30c. less.) For full other information ask and C. H. & D. R. R. agent, or address E.
